

A B S T R A C T

sub
C4

A disposable body fluid absorbent article includes, a liquid-absorbent core, the core is provided in the vicinity of opposite side edges extending in parallel to each other in a longitudinal direction thereof with depressed regions tapering from an upper surface toward a lower surface of the core and extending along a pair of imaginary lines extending in the longitudinal direction so as to describe convex curves respectively facing a center line bisecting a width of the core.

00443077-424000